

Kentucky Arts Council --
21st Floor Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, KY

American Saddle Horse Museum --
4093 Iron Works Parkway, Lexington, KY

The American Saddlebred Museum presents the traditions and heritage of the American Saddlebred Horse through the collection, preservation, and display of artifacts, fine art, photography and the written word. The museum is the "Showplace for Saddlebreds". Located on the grounds of the beautiful Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington, KY, the American Saddlebred Museum is an exciting destination. Inside, visitors learn the important role the ASB played in our nation's history, and how he has evolved into the beautiful and versatile breed we know today. The Museum features special exhibits that change each year as well as our permanent exhibit and award-winning theater show. The American Saddlebred Museum houses the largest collection of Saddlebred artifacts in the world. In our archives can be found trophies, photographs, tack, and artwork, including one of the most extensive collections of George Ford Morris Saddlebred paintings in existence. Our library contains over 2,400 volumes used by our members for bloodline and geneological research. The Museum serves as a resource to the Saddlebred industry while educating visitors about the beauty, versatility, and history of the American Saddlebred horse

Carnegie Center for Literacy and Learning --
251 W Second St., Lexington, KY

The Carnegie Center is a non-profit family learning center devoted to helping all citizens improve their quality of life. Our open-door policy invites people young and old to learn something new. We offer seasonal classes in Writing, Computer Literacy, and Foreign Language; tutoring for students ages 6-16; vibrant youth and family programs and exhibits, readings, and other arts-related events designed to encourage among Central Kentuckians an appreciation for all art forms and for learning in general. Many classes and events at the Carnegie Center are free, and wherever low-cost registration fees are required, scholarships are available to help those in need. The Carnegie Center has long been a haven for writers, and we have built on that tradition to become a home to diverse groups of people who love to read, to discuss, to explore, to play, to create, and to learn. There's something for everyone at the Carnegie Center, WHERE LEARNING LIVES.

Living Arts & Science Center --
362 N. Martin Luther King, Lexington, KY

The Living Arts & Science Center is a not-for-profit organization that provides creative and unique opportunities for exploration and education in the arts and sciences. Art galleries, a science gallery, and arts and science classes and workshops are provided year-round for children and adults of all ages. In addition, the Living Arts and Science Center partners with community agencies and organizations to provide free hands-on arts activities at community events and programs and classes for special needs and at-risk students.

Lexington Art League --
Loudoun House , Lexington, KY

In addition to the flagship gallery in the historic Loudoun House, which includes the Project Space installation area, LAL programs exhibits at LAL at ArtsPlace and LAL at the Mayor's Office. Please visit the Galleries page on the website for more information.

Shaker Village of Pleasant Hill --
3501 Lexington Road, Harrodsburg, KY

Discover America's largest restored Shaker community, where a remarkable society once flourished and where today, you can experience a true Kentucky treasure. The village contains 34 original buildings and 3000 acres of land. Self-guided tour with crafts demonstrations and seasonal special events. Solo performance of Shaker music offered April-October. Forty miles of hiking and horseback riding trails. Homeschool programs offered in spring and fall, including naturalist-led activities. Riverboat cruises on the Kentucky River offered May through October. The Inn at Shaker Village has 81 hotel rooms where you can stay where the Shakers once lived and worked. Restaurant serves regional and Shaker dishes. Two craft stores offer regional crafts.

Louisville Visual Art Association --
3005 Upper River Road, Louisville, KY

Since 1909, the Louisville Visual Art Association has been the region's foremost contemporary visual art center. It engages the community in the creating and appreciation of art with special programs, including free children's art classes. Look for more information under Programs/CFAC on the website.

Steven Foster Outdoor Musical --
Highway 150 E, Bardstown, KY

Exciting outdoor musical featuring fantastic entertainment for the entire family. Recently honored as "Kentucky's Official Outdoor Musical!" The story of America's first great composer! School Day Matinee, Choral & Band Program, and Outdoor Classroom under the stars educational programs available. Curriculum guides and other educational materials provided on website. Dinner Theater and outdoors in the park productions also available on limited dates.

AEGON Gallery --
Centre College, 600 W. Walnut St., Danville, KY

Louisville Stoneware --

Studio One Factory Tour & Paint Your Own, Louisville, KY

Witness artistry in the making with a tour of one of the nation's oldest and most revered stoneware manufacturing firms. Experience unique handmade and hand-painted tableware, bakeware and collectibles - each piece rendered timeless by no fewer than 20 skilled artisans. You may also visit the "Paint Your Own Studio" to create your own masterpiece.

Bernheim Arboretum & Research Forest --
Highway 245, Clermont, KY

A 250-acre arboretum, lakes, Visitor Center with art gallery and shop, and over 35 miles of trails through natural forest. Youth programs and guided tours available. On the first Saturday of every month children and adults can explore their connections with nature by visiting fun and informative Nature Exploration Stations at Bernheim's award-winning Visitor Center.

Kentucky Museum of Art and Craft --
715 W. Main Street, Louisville, KY

The Kentucky Museum of Art and Craft is a nonprofit organization founded in 1981 to continue the art and craft heritage of Kentucky through the support and education of craft artists and education of the public.

The Embroiders' Guild of America, Inc. --
426 West Jefferson Street, Louisville, KY

Muhammad Ali Center --

One Muhammad Ali Plaza, Louisville, KY

The Muhammad Ali Center serves as both a destination site and an international education and cultural center that is inspired by the ideals of its founder Muhammad Ali. The Ali Center's innovative and immersive visitor experience, public and educational programming, and global initiatives - including conflict resolution training and management - carry on Muhammad's legacy and continue his life's work.

Two-and-a-half levels of interactive exhibits and captivating multi-media presentations present Ali's life story through the six core values of his life: respect, confidence, conviction, dedication, giving, and spirituality. Ultimately, the Ali Center strives to inspire you to pursue your potential and explore the greatness that lies within yourself. Much more than a place that tells the story of one man's journey, the Ali Center reaches beyond its physical walls to fulfill its mission: To preserve and share the legacy and ideals of Muhammad Ali, to promote respect, hope and understanding, and to inspire adults and children everywhere to be as great as they can be.

Kentucky Center for the Arts --
501 W Main St., Louisville, KY

Derby Dinner Playhouse --
525 Marriott Drive, Clarksville, IN

Broadway Across America --
620 West Main Street, Louisville, KY
Theatre is a vital art form for many reasons. It offers diverse perspectives. It provides a better understanding of the people and world around us. It entertains us. It unites us. It moves us. It enriches our lives. Broadway Across America is committed to sharing the magic of live theatre and educating audiences of all ages in the process. To do so, we have detailed our ongoing mission: To nurture touring Broadway as a dynamic and primary source of performing arts entertainment throughout the country; to extend community participation and audience growth in the arts through programs of education and community outreach; and to provide resources to our partners to enhance and support their community arts education missions.

Arts Kentucky --
624 W Main St., Louisville, KY

Allen R. Hite Art Institute, University of Louisville --
104 Schneider Hall, Louisville, KY

Kentucky Watercolor Society --
Mellwood Arts and Entertainment Center, Louisville, KY

The Little Loomhouse --
328 Kenwood Hill Rd., Louisville, KY
Built originally as summer homes for well-to-do Louisville families who wanted to escape the heat of the city, the site became an enclave for artisans dedicated to preserving and extending the tradition of hand weaving. Today, Little Loomhouse continues the folk art tradition of weaving and other textile arts through education, conservation and arts participation.